

Horizon RP125-808 Vin Xan

Featured Yacht of the Year 2024 in Taiwan

Taiwan SNAME

Designed and built for a repeat owner, the Horizon RP125 combines preferred elements from the popular RP (Raised Pilothouse) and FD (Fast Displacement) Series of yachts. Innovation was the genesis of this particular yacht, which is based on the Horizon RP platform but built with an FD Series High Performance Piercing Bow for enhanced performance. At 125 feet in length, the RP125 is the largest Horizon yacht sold in Australia.

The first notable layout variation of the RP125 is the absence of a raised pilothouse, which was eliminated from the design to allow for a spacious salon and an exceptional galley area with high ceilings and large windows on the main deck. The wheelhouse is instead situated on the bridge deck along with Captain's quarters and a dayhead with a shower just forward of an enclosed skylounge and bridge deck dining area aft.

Christened Vin Xan, the RP125 is the second Horizon build for the owner, who previously owned an RP100. The five-stateroom yacht boasts generous interior space, which is outfitted in a sophisticated interior style highlighted by rich South American walnut and ebony accents. Similar to the FD Series layout, the RP125 sees the master stateroom positioned forward on the main deck with a sunken ensuite.

Other innovative features are found throughout the RP125. The interior staircase features a leather-wrapped handrail that can be raised or lowered at the touch of a button. Spacious crew quarters and a large crew mess with ample soundproofing are situated aft of the engine room, while a large beach arage with laundry has been designed with custom storage for the owner's favorite waterborne activities such as fishing and diving.
